

Whispers From Within

By: Daniel Lewis

Period: C

Table of Contents

| | |
|--------------------------|--------|
| HIGH IN THE SKY | Page 3 |
| MORE THAN A FRIEND | Page 4 |
| THE VISITOR | Page 5 |
| POLARITY | Page 6 |
| THE POOL THAT NEVER ENDS | Page 7 |
| ABOUT THE POET | Page 8 |

HIGH IN THE SKY

The sun was shimmering apples

Streaming heat

High up in the sky

The bat I held was as shiny as a new car

I could see the ball smiling

As it went flying in the air

MORE THAN A FRIEND

My Cowboy Woody makes me giggle

Ever time he winks at me

My Cowboy Woody is huggable

As a new feather pillow

My Cowboy Woody is as strong and mighty

As the Empire State Building

My Cowboy Woody is so cool

He is cooler than ice

THE VISITOR

I sit there staring at the Christmas tree
As it stares right back at me
The night was cold as coldness can be
Hoping that the jollyness of his joyful self
Will be coming to this house tonight
As a hear his "ho, ho ho's,"
My eyes slowly fall asleep

POLARITY

Love is a waterfall

That never ends

Love is like a well

With never ending wealth

Love can cut through

Your heart like a blade

Love can wrap its hands around your heart

And rip it apart.

THE POOL THAT NEVER ENDS

I find it funny
To write about myself
As I watch the sky
Being more than wealth
The sky is a bright blue
That I like to swim into...

At night
The pool that never ends